

What makes us feel good about our work? Dan Ariely

- ~~people care just about money~~
- mount-climbing - ~~joy/happiness~~ misery, hardship
- people care about ~~challenge~~
~~peak~~
~~reaching the end~~
~~fight~~
- even if we enjoy the process of work, we need someone to see it too
- meaningful condition - building 11 more
- Sisyphean condition X - building less 7
- magnitude of importance of meaning

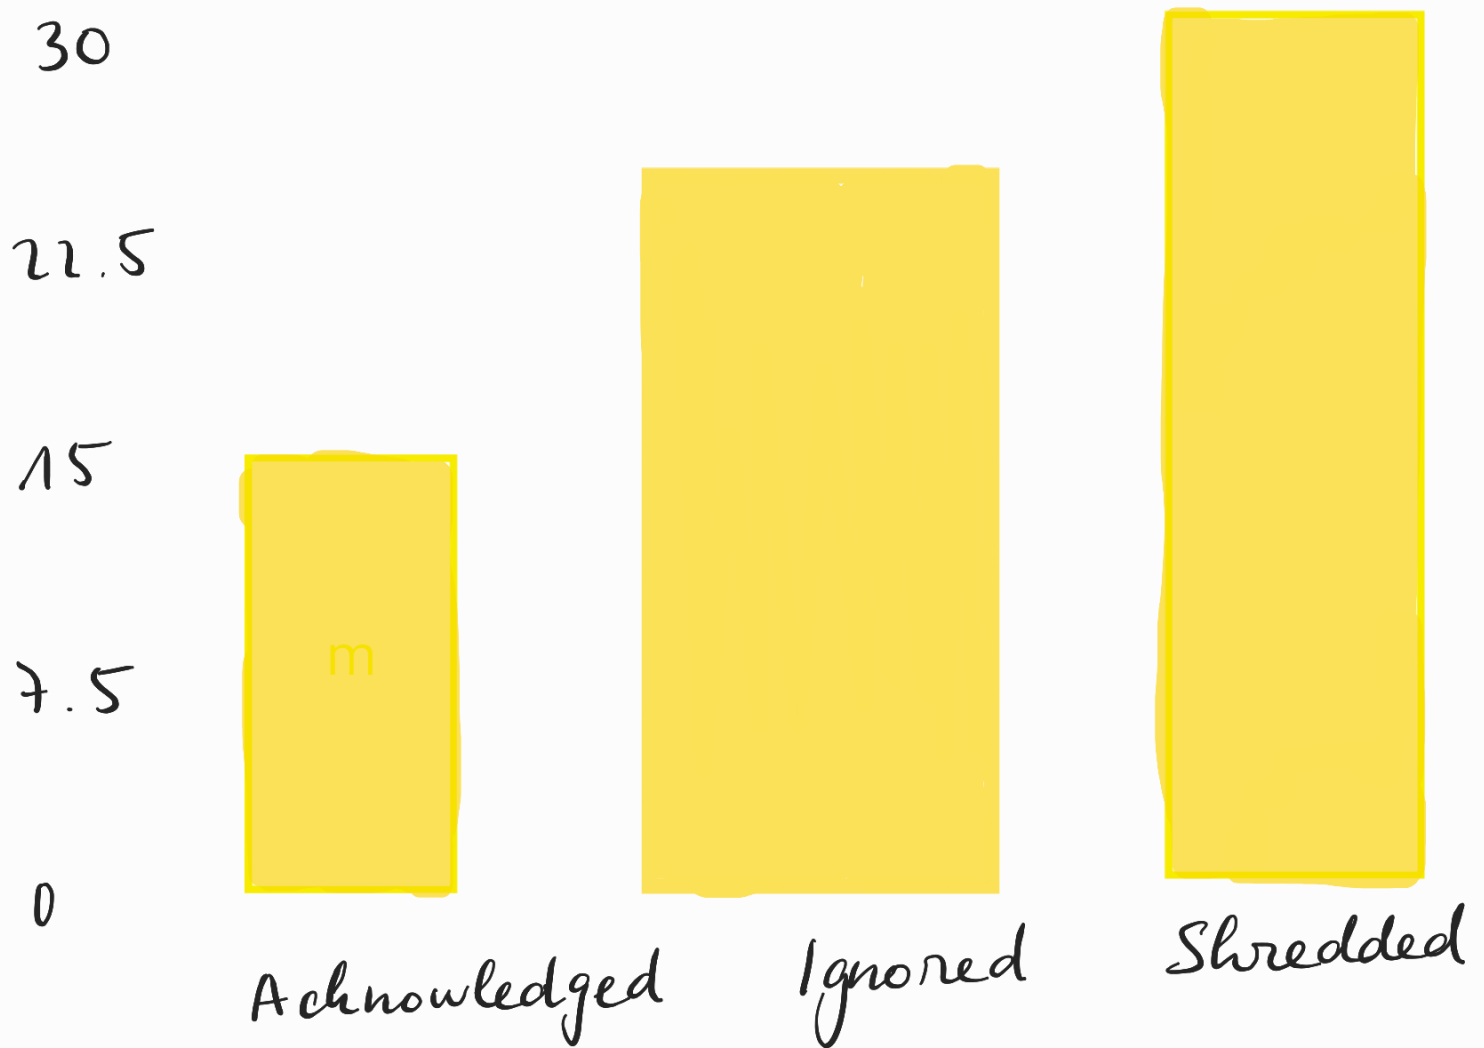

- if the work is meaningless, it is not important how much we enjoy it

- effort
- motivation
- meaning

→ people need to care more about what they are doing

Preparation: When in d

Reservation Wage m

→ ignoring performance of people is almost as bad as shredding it in front of their eyes

→ just looking at someone else's work makes them motivated

POSITIVE MOTIVATION

enjoying the process X

enjoying the job done

- people need to feel EFFORT put in
"IKEA effect"

- building something makes you value it 5x more than if you just observe

- if you make it even more challenging, the builder will value it even more

- time, connection

- other people don't see things our way

Production - 12 steps

- more efficient if 1 person = 1 step but the people don't care about the product

IS EFFICIENCY MORE

IMPORTANT THAN MEANING:

A revised model of Labor

Motivation = Payment
+ Meaning
+ Creation
+ Ownership
+ Challenge
+ Identity
+ Pride

MORE PRODUCTIVE $\neq$ HAPPIER
